Camilo Corner

Hey everybody,
When you arrive for the first time to a dive operation, it looks like when you arrive on the site of your holydays: you have expectations, ideas, and wishes. You have clear in your mind what you want that happens. I can compare this particular starting to the beginning of a relationship... you know, when you start to meet your woman or your man (in my case, it was Yan), everything is looking so good, so new, so different and so sweet ... eventually, with the time running, the routine is coming and you realize that the amazing person that you met is not different than a real woman [or a real man]. That's the moment you can discover if this is the true love... Well, when you are a manager... that moment is arriving too fast and you really have to feel the real love inside of you.

I am feeling in that way... I like to think that I am a person of facts, more than words and I wish that you will give us the opportunity to show to you "how is the operation that I love" were I expect that all your expectations can come true with us..

Cheers,

Camilo

"The Best Dive Resort ever!!!"

Great praise indeed from our Hong Kong group. Many thanks to Jenny, Bo Bo, little Yua and the rest of the Group, see you all again soon....

"It was great to come back again for the third year running and see so many positive changes. From being able to go local in small groups & see so much, to our relaxing shore dive, just the two of us. Oh, and to see Banka back on the dive menu and not be limited by minimum group numbers, so we had a great day out and stunning diving."

'Our non diving Mother had a great time joining the boats when she wanted and also saw so much on the Highland and Tangkoko tours'
Thanks to Phil, Jane & Edith Smith for their continuing support.
